

REGISTER NOW!

2020 Los Angeles Geospatial Summit
Friday, February 28, 2020, 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
@ the USC Hotel

Don't miss:

- The opening keynote by Dr. Dawn Wright, Chief Scientist of Esri
- Hear industry leaders speak on emerging trends and professional opportunities for careers in industries using geospatial science and technologies
- Gain experience giving lightning talks and presenting posters
- Get to know fellow students and faculty from CSU Long Beach, CSU Northridge, Cal Poly Pomona, UCLA, and University of Redlands
- Network with representatives from leading companies

As Esri Chief Scientist, Dawn is responsible for strengthening the scientific foundation for Esri software and services, while representing Esri to the scientific community.

See the full program:

spatial.usc.edu

#LAGeoSummit

Registration: $100

CGIA, SoCal URISA, and Geospatial San Diego Members: $70

Students: $50

Registration includes continental breakfast, lunch, and GISP credit.

Metro Jefferson/USC or Exposition stations.

Event self-parking at USC Hotel: $14/day.

For more information, contact Stephanie Tran at transtep@usc.edu

USC Dornsife

Dana and David Dornsife
College of Letters, Arts and Sciences