

Pay Your Fees

USC students should pay their tuition and fees online, via wire transfer or using a payment plan. Details can be found on USC Student Financial Services' Methods of Payment page. You can also Check Your Account Balance through the Online Academic Student Information System (OASIS). The username is your USC ID number and the default password is your 6-digit date of birth (month/day/year, with no punctuation).

USC also provides a Tuition Refund Insurance option that enables students to receive a 100% refund of term tuition and fees if they are forced to withdraw for medical reasons.

USC Credit Union

USC CU offers banking services for students and families, including checking and savings accounts, student loans, mortgages, etc.

For detailed information on how to open an account as a student with USC Credit Union, please visit this website.

Wire Transfers from your home country

If you're an international student, you will probably need to get money wired into your bank account in the United States at least twice a year. Here are instructions on how to get it done with USC Credit Union.
